Notes

¹ The “Greater Mediterranean” is a program launched by the Fondazione Mediterraneo in 2005. This program aims at enlarging and strengthening the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership involving all the Southern Shore Countries (including Libya and Mauritania), the Balkans, (Albania, Serbia, Bosnia, Macedonia, etc.), the Black Sea countries (Ukraine, Georgia, etc.) and the Middle East and Gulf Countries (Iraq, Iran, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait etc.). The aim is to create a Great coalition of shared values and interests respecting different identities and cultures.

² The Euro-Mediterranean Partnership (EMP) or “Barcelona Process” is an initiative undertaken by the EU and launched during the 1st Euro-Mediterranean Conference (Barcelona, November 1995). This process is based on three pillars: political, economic and socio-cultural. The EMP involves the 27 EU Countries and 10 Mediterranean Partners (Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Egypt, Israel, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria, Turkey and Palestine).

3. In 1991 he established the Fondazione Mediterraneo (FM), an international non-governmental and non-profit organization, aimed at developing the intercultural dialogue and in relation to which he acts as its President.

Throughout his long-standing activities with the FM, Michele Capasso has collaborated with the European Union, Italy and Euro-Mediterranean Countries for the implementation of the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership, in particular with regard to concrete actions aiming at promoting the dialogue between Cultures and Civilizations in the Euro-Mediterranean area. For these activities he has received acknowledgements from several institutions as the European Parliament, the Council of Europe, the United Nations, the Euro-Mediterranean Parliamentary Assembly, the Kingdom of Morocco, etc.

King Abdullah II of Jordan has conferred upon him the Decoration of Independence of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, 10th October 2000.

4. He has carried and still carries out actions aimed at developing the intercultural dialogue through his role of Director General (since 2000) of:
 - Maison de la Méditerranée-Mediterranean Academy: a body founded by Academies and High Institutions of the Euro-Mediterranean Countries with its seat in Naples and offices in other Countries. This body acts to promote intercultural dialogue in the fields of culture, arts and media representing inter-regional institutions, local bodies and Universities;
 - Almamed: a body that brings together the leading Euro-Mediterranean Universities coordinated by the Cadi Ayyad University of Marrakech;
 - Euromedcity: a body that brings together the major Euro-Mediterranean cities coordinated by City of Murcia;
 - Isolamed: a body that brings together the main Mediterranean islands.
5. Within the framework of promoting intercultural dialogue, he also carries out journalistic, publishing and multimedia activities:
 - He has published articles and reports in the leading newspapers and journals, both Italian and international (La Repubblica, El Pais, Le Monde, Dialogo mediterraneo, Il Secolo XIX, Pluriverso, Le Matin, Al-Ahram etc).
 - Since 1996, he has collaborated with the newspaper “Il Denaro” on a weekly basis, and is responsible for the feature Mediterranean Observatory (www.euromedi.org/ Logbook)
 - He directs, on behalf of “Edizioni Magma” of Naples, the following editorial series: Cultura e attualità; Documenti e problemi; Arte, danza, musica, cinema e teatro. (www.euromedi.org/Publications)
 - He is the designer and director of the website www.euromedi.org, which gives highly scientific coverage to topics that are fundamental to cultural, economic and scientific integration in the Euro-Mediterranean area. The website is both informative and inquisitive concerning the principal problems of the Euro-Mediterranean area (migration, drought, new poverty and new indigence, etc.). It includes multilingual editorial staff.

- He is the promoter of the website “Euromed Youth” (www.euromedyouth.info)
- He has published various books, among others:

Predrag Matvejević 1995. “Ex Jugoslavia: Diario di Guerra”

Magma Edition (ISBN 88-8127-224-8)

This book speaks about the destruction and slaughter of the war that steeped the Former Yugoslavia in blood starting from 1992-93. In order to help those people, Michele Capasso decided to break off his professional activity as engineer and architect and to create the FM. The book, written by Predrag Matvejević for the Collection “Cultura and Attualità” and directed by Michele Capasso, has a prologue written by Czesław Miłosz and an afterword written by Josif Brodskij, both Nobel Prize winners.

1. the creation of innovative enterprises;
2. the adoption of innovative in existing SMEs.

In order to successfully implement an innovative process, it is of the utmost importance to facilitate access to information of new technologies, improve services, enhance skills, competencies, know-how and avail of financial and other management tools. In view of this, MEDPRIDE has targeted its activities to implement the performances of organizations that could act as interfaces both for existing SMEs and for new enterprises. MEDPRIDE will contribute in diffusing information technologies and to levels: at macro level, since a consistent part of the institutional CoE work will be carried out through the internet; and to micro level, by adding value to social and economic environments, through both the creation of innovative enterprises and by fostering the introduction of innovative in existing traditional sectors SMEs.

13. EUROMEDCAFE

Project “EUROMEDCAFE”

Location: Brussels and Naples

Donors of the project: Fondazione Mediterraneo, European Commission

Role: Organizer

Project results: The “Uemed-Euromedcafe” project, promoted by the Fondazione Mediterraneo, aims to renew and stimulate conversation and exchange among European and Mediterranean peoples. The Fondazione wants to encourage mutual understanding by means of a “cinema of proximity” with films via the Internet. Thanks to the support of the European Commission (Direction General for External Relations) the Fondazione Mediterraneo was able to achieve two goals:

1. Since 2004, the Fondazione Mediterraneo has set up and created “another look”: the annual short film competition on the Internet, on the subject of intercultural dialogue and mutual understanding:

Within the context of the “another look” competition, every year the Fondazione Mediterraneo selects thirty short films dealing with intercultural dialogue (accessible on the site www.euromedcafe.org). The project is conceived as a forum of images to put forward in hopes of combating and eradicating prejudices. The website is an open space for collaboration, using the energy, courage and imagination of young artists and producers from the Euro-Mediterranean. Further, the site is a springboard to recognize and celebrate the diversity of creative voices of the peoples of the Southern and Northern Mediterranean.

2. Since 2005, associated to short film competition, the Fondazione has created the “Other sounds” competition and a forum for discussion and exchange, a large space for meetings, a kind of Euro-Mediterranean “agora”. Euromedcafe aims to give voice to civil society, to “internauts” and to authors presenting their truths and their viewpoints as a way of promoting dialogue and take down walls of ignorance and prejudice.

Project cost: 320.000

www.euromedi.org – www.euromedcafe.org

14. MEDITERRANEAN, EUROPE AND ISLAM: ACTORS IN DIALOGUE

Location: Naples

Donors of the project: Fondazione Mediterraneo

Role: Organizer

Project results: Its mission is to strengthen mutual understanding and co-operation between the countries of the southern and northern shores of the Mediterranean and Europe and the Muslim communities both within and outside of Europe. This mission was carried out at the MdM in Naples as well as with partners in the Arab world, and will bring together intellectuals, members of civil society, policy-makers, religious authorities and members of the business community.

To announce this new direction and to give shape to this new initiative, the MdM has appointed Walter Schwimmer, former Secretary General of the Council of Europe, as the new Secretary General of the MdM, and John L. Esposito of Georgetown University as the President the Executive Scientific Committee. Among the achievements of the project, mention should be made of:

- First Lecture Series on “The International Politics of the Mediterranean” Naples 2004-2005
- Second Lecture Series on “The International Politics of the Mediterranean” Naples 2006

Project cost: 300,000.

D) Working experience with civil society in the implementation of the Euro-Mediterranean partnership

Michele Capasso has long-standing experience with civil society in the development and implementation of the Euro-Mediterranean partnership. In particular:

1. He has organized the International Congress “Mediterranean and Europe” in Naples which produced an important final document that was subsequently presented at the “Euro-Mediterranean Conference of Barcelona” in November 1995: on that occasion the European Union inaugurated the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership, activating what has become known as the Barcelona Process. Following this event, he has contributed to the development of this process, collaborating on the “1st Euromed Civil Forum” – which took place in Barcelona in the days following the Conference – and subsequently organized the “2nd Euromed Civil Forum”, held in Naples in December 1997 and the “Euromed Civil Forum” held in Naples in November 2003.
2. He has set up international bodies and institutes to promote the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership and has specialized, through the MEDA program, in the use of European funding, in particular to promote the interaction between countries, regions, cities, national institutions and civic bodies.
3. On behalf of the Fondazione Mediterraneo and of international bodies and institutions, he has set up, organized, directed and managed numerous events and actions in the context of Euro-Mediterranean Partnership. These include:
 - II Euromed Civil Forum, acting for the European Commission and the Euro-Mediterranean Regions (Campania, Piemonte, Toscana, Calabria, Liguria, Catalunya, Languedoc Roussillon), held in Naples on 12-13-14 December 1997 with the participation of 2248 representatives from 36 Euro-Mediterranean countries (among which 600 youngsters).

- European Masters in “Complexity models and human ecology: instruments for the development of communities” (Naples, 2004-2005): a training course on social mediation, participation, solidarity and citizenship. The Masters, directed by Prof. Arcidiacono, was carried out in collaboration with universities, communities and institutions of civil society.
- Cinemamed project, chosen as part of the Euromed Audiovisuals community programme and co-financed by the European Commission. To date, the project has achieved the following results: 10 festivals organized in 10 Euro-Mediterranean cities; 69 films shown to the public; 60,000 viewers; 12,000 students involved; 12 debates involving film-makers and the audience; 380 articles published in newspapers; 54 television reportages; 25 partners and 18 countries taking part in the project; 6 “Aristotle” seminars held, resulting in training 22 scriptwriters; 18 scripts worked out; 2 retrospectives of Salah Abu Seif organized in Naples and Bologna; the publication and circulation of 4,000 copies of the catalogue “The Cinema of the Arab-Mediterranean Countries”, 3,000 copies of the book “The Cinema of Salah Abu Seif”, 3,000 copies of the book “Cinemas in Arab-Mediterranean Countries” and, finally, the awarding of the “Mediterranean Prize” to Naguib Mahfouz. The CINEMAMED project was carried out in partnership with the University Cadi Ayyad of Marrakech and other Euro-Mediterranean partners (www.cinemamed.org).
- Medpride project, promoted by European Commission within the Eumedis Programme. The Medpride project has created a network of centers of excellence (CoE) in European and Mediterranean Countries with the aim of implementing an operational model for the creation of innovative enterprises and the adoption of new technologies in existing SMEs. This project was carried out in collaboration with the Cadi Ayyad University of Marrakech and with other Euro-Mediterranean partners. (www.medpride.org).
- International Conference Assises de la Mediterranee, for the City of Marseille, held in Marseille on the 5-6 July 2000 with the participation of 900 representatives of Euro-Mediterranean Countries. On that occasion, there was the Rentrée solennelle of the Accademia del Mediterraneo and a Bureau Meetings of the networks of “Almamed”, “Isolamed” and “Euromedcity”.

- Euro-Mediterranean Conference The role of cultural diversity at the dawn of the Third Millennium, for the European Union and in collaboration with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Italian Republic. The event took place in Amman on 10-11 October 2000.
- Euro-Mediterranean Conference Balkans in the Third Millennium held in Skopje on 25-26 May 2001. On that occasion 300 representatives of Balkans defined the guidelines to renovate the democratic and civil structures of European south-eastern countries, following the Human Rights Charter. The Foundation addressed a request to the European Union for the admission of the Balkan Countries to the Euro-Mediterranean partnership.
- Opening of the Maison de la Mediterranee, inaugurated in Naples on 22nd of June 2002 and its management as a supporting tool for MEDA projects, Interreg, etc., and more generally to support the activity in the Regions of Southern Italy within the framework of the Euro-Mediterranean partnership.
- Euromed Civil Forum, which took place in Naples on 28-29-30 November 2003. The aim was to come as close as possible to renewing the Civil Forum. The Forum was organized and financed by the Fondazione in collaboration with an Executive Committee that included the NGO Platform of the Euromed Civil Forum, and the support of the European Commission. More than 300 participants, many from the Southern shores of the Mediterranean, adopted a Declaration that was presented to the Ministerial Conference of Naples. The text called for an action plan for civil society in the region, a policy for sustainable agricultural and rural development, and the organization of the Euro-Mediterranean Meeting of Labor Ministers. The Civil Forum highlighted the importance of the freedom of association, of assembly and of expression.
- Conference on Gender Studies together with an exposition of Women Publishers held in Naples on 19 June 2004,. On that occasion various, representatives of the Biblioteca Italiana delle Donne of Bologna and of the Universities of Oviedo and Granada attended. Algerian writer Wassyla Tamzali and several female publishing houses (Giunti Editore, Mediterraneo Media, Filema, etc.) took part to the conference. The event and the exhibition were organized in collaboration with the PhD course on Gender Studies of the University of Naples "Federico II".
- Conference Northern-Southern dialogue on the Mediterranean, which took place in Algiers (24-26 February 2006), together with the International European Movement (IEM), the Algerian Committee and other Institutions. Moreover, Michele Capasso contributed to drawing up the final document.

- The “Maison des Alliances” Project, with the League of Arab States and other partners, with the principal aim of promoting the closeness of the Peoples of Europe, the Mediterranean and the Arab World in a global context through the dissemination of knowledge and historical and cultural imprinting that have been interwoven for centuries in order to strengthen the feeling of belonging and living together.
 - The “Maison de la Paix – Casa Universale delle Culture” Project, a highly representative space in which knowledge of diversity of identities and cultures can be transmitted thus permanently building initiatives that are capable of producing the peace required for co-development. The major countries of the world and international bodies participated in the project. Its architecture acts as a custodian for the memory of the numerous testimonies of peace initiatives that have characterized history, in many instances more than wars, but above all it is a place in which peace can be “built”.
 - The “Totem for Peace” Project, by sculptor, Mario Molinari, from Turin, is the symbol of the “Maison de la Paix – Casa Universale delle Culture”, which represents peace throughout the world and especially in the Greater Mediterranean. the Fondazione Mediterraneo is disseminating this symbol as the universal symbol of peace.
4. In addition to the Civil Forum of Barcelona (1995), the II Euromed Civil Forum of Naples (1997) and the Euromed Civil Forum of Naples (2003) – Michele Capasso also contributed to the Euromed Civil Forums in Malta (1997), Valencia (2002), Chania (2003), Luxemburg (2005) and Marrakech (2006) and Marseille (2008).

Among the articles referring to Michele Capasso in the national and international press, mention should be made of the following:

- IL MATTINO, 17th December 1997 (Italy)
The article entitled “Mediterraneo: uniti per lo sviluppo” emphasizes the importance of the Second Euromed Civil Forum, attended by 2300 people from 36 countries. This event, organized by Michele Capasso, was inaugurated by President of the Republic Oscar Luigi Scalfaro of Italy.
- HURRIYET, 27th December 1997 (Turkey)
He is referred to as “a great architect who not only promotes intercultural dialogue, but implements it with concrete actions... and such men should be entrusted with the task of resolving problems such as those of the Kurds...”.
- LE MATIN, 25th October 1999 (Morocco)
The article bears testimony to the appreciation and support of the King of Morocco, Hassan II, for the action carried out by Arch. Capasso for the intercultural dialogue as well as the support to the institution of an Office of the Accademia del Mediterraneo in Marrakesh.
- NUOVA MAKEDONIA, 30th November 1999 (Macedonian Republic)
The article appreciates the actions performed by Arch. Capasso since he has undertaken several activities in Macedonia, showing far-sightedness in the context of Euro-Mediterranean dialogue between cultures and civilizations. The peace process requires the involvement of the Balkans and Macedonia as they play an important role in this process. The article emphasizes the friendship and appreciation towards Arch. Capasso by the former President of the Macedonian Republic, Mr. Glikorov.
- LA REPUBBLICA, 12th August 2000 (Italy)
In her article, Luciana Stegagno Picchio talks about the “new Mediterranean” of the Accademia del Mediterraneo, founded in 1998 in Naples by “an architect looking towards the future, and which has become an unexpected interdisciplinary, multilingual, and multicultural international reality.
- AL RAY DAILY, 11th October 2000 (Jordan)
The article appreciates the capacity of Arch. Capasso to manage events in Jordan – such as the Euro-Mediterranean Conference on the Intercultural Dialogue in Honour of King Hussein (decided by the Council of Europe, which entrusted Mr. Capasso with its organization) – even in moments of tension caused by the conflict between Israelis and Palestinians.

LA REPUBBLICA, 23rd June 2002 (Italy)

This article bears testimony to the profound appreciation to Mr. Capasso for being able, in a very short time, to establish the Maison de la Méditerranée in Naples with other offices in several Euro-Mediterranean countries.

In the article, the journalist describes the opening ceremony and the official letters sent by Presidents of States and International Organizations in support of the Fondazione.

Other articles on the same topic include:

- IL DENARO, 22/06/2002, Opening of the Mediterranean House in Naples
- IL MATTINO, 22/06/2002, “Maison de la Méditerranée”, seat in via Depretis
